Cox, of New York, in the House of Representatives: For Adherence to Retrenchment, Saturday, June 17, 1876, on the President s Message Relating to Appropriations Nor has the recent convention of the republican people at Cincinnati given any definite conclusion on that matter. All conclusions have been general and inconclusive. There are no remedies proposed. Why, sir, in Cincinnati the other day, was it an uncertain or a certain sound as to the repeal of this resumption law? I say to the House what I said the other day, that the Committee on Banking and Currency will take that matter up for consideration as soon as a quorum appears. We have no desire to postpone it now that a privilege is afforded us to report at any time. A quorum will be here on Monday. All intimations of disinclination to consider and report on that critical question will be easily repelled by the frankness and future action of that committee which has been peculiarly honored by the House. The Great Rule Of Retrenchment - 120. But the matter now before the House is brought here by the message of the President. It is significant of conflict, and calls for pluck, faith, virtue, and popular defiance. The debate from one side is an attack on Rule 120 as amended. The object of the amendment of that rule, as gentlemen know very well, was to allow the Committee on Appropriations to retrench and reduce expenditures and salaries. The object of the old rule, I do not care by whom enacted, was to allow them only to increase. It has been decided, says...
